We advocate economic, racial, social and environmental justice in Virginia's policies and practices through education, prayer and action.

Economic Justice

Over the past 30 years, the rich have been getting richer while the poor have been getting poorer. VICPP has led efforts to stop wage theft and is leading a campaign to establish a Paid Sick Day standard for all Virginia workers.

Health Equity

VICPP led the faith community's advocacy on the successful passage of Medicaid expansion. Now we are educating congregations and individuals on the process of enrollment. Visit:

Civic Engagement

The staff at VICPP, together with faith leaders, congregations, and volunteers work countless hours advocating social justice issues at the General Assembly. We meet with legislators, community leaders, advocates and adversaries. We also engage congregations in Get Out the Vote initiatives. Visit: virginiainterfaithcenter.org/civic-engagement

Criminal Justice

VICPP seeks a criminal justice system that focuses on rehabilitation rather than punishment. Our faith traditions recognize that we all sin and transgress from both God's laws and human laws, and yet we believe in the fundamental power of forgiveness, redemption and restoration. VICPP seeks to reduce mass incarceration and stop the criminalization of poverty.

Immigrant Justice

VICPP is working to make Virginia a more equitable and welcoming place, with increased access to opportunities for all communities. As people of faith, we share the foundational values of loving our neighbors, caring for the vulnerable and uplifting marginalized members of our communities. VICPP advocates legislative solutions to end the barriers that our immigrant neighbors face. Visit: virginiainterfaithcenter.org/project/welcoming-all

Environmental Justice

Environmental Justice is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to the development, implementation and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations and policies. Virginia Interfaith Power and Light, a program of VICPP, aims to collaborate as people of faith to grow healthy communities and advance climate justice through education, advocacy, and worship.
